

Computer Science Forum

DataBase Prototype Group 3

A first look at the design of the data base tables needed for a online forum. The lines denote where the tables are connected and will be used in all parts of the site to keep threads, post, and comments organized and easy to search.

